The marriage of Miss Mildred Bragg Spaulding and Joseph Potter Davies took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. E. Spaulding, 315 Pitt street, at 3:30 o'clock Saturday night. The Rev. Samuel B. Braden, acting minister of the Presbyterian Church, said the marriage ceremony.

After Miss Sally Love Banks, of Memphis, Tenn., sang "Love Like the Dawn Comes Stealing," and "I Love You" the bride party descended the stairs to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin played by Mrs. John Davies O'Rear of Mexico, Mo. Dr. Louis N. Spaulding, brother of the bride, gave the bride away. The marriage ceremony was said before an altar of ferns and flowers in the living room. The room was lighted with candles. The bride carried out the old tradition of wearing "Something old and something new, Something borrowed and something blue."

She wore a cameo pin which was her grandmother's wedding gift. She was dressed in a white champagne satin dress trimmed in lace and a tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Lawson G. Lowrey, of Iowa City, sister of the bride, wore white georgette trimmed with pearls. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of Ophelia roses and sweet Elysium. The maid of honor, Miss Jeanette Bragg of Mexico, Mo., wore orchid organdy and also carried a nosegay of Ophelia roses. Little Miss Jean Spaulding, the bride's niece, who acted as flower girl, wore pink organdy and carried a blue green basket of roses and sweet peas. The ring bearer, Miss Margaret Banks, niece of the groom, wore white organdy and carried the ring in a white satin basket. The bride's mother wore silver gray crepe de chine over pink satin and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Donald S. Libby of Centralia, a friend of the groom, acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding supper was served in the dining room. The color scheme in this room was pink and white. When the bride's cake was cut, Mrs. Jack Williams found the ring. Miss Cleve Cole the maid of honor, Miss Ruth Douglass the button and Lawson Lowrey, Jr., the thimble.

The bride and groom left for a two weeks' wedding trip in the west immediately after the wedding supper. They will return to Columbia the first of September in order that Mr. Davies may resume his studies in the law school. The bride received her education in Columbia, being a graduate of the University. She is a member of the Alpha Phi sorority.

Mr. Davies' home is in Mount Vernon. His father, Joseph N. Davies, was a prominent lawyer in Lawrence County. Mr. Davies received a B. A. degree from the University last April and will complete his course in law next spring. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The out-of-town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Bragg, Miss Jeanette Bragg, Mrs. John D. O'Rear and son John D. Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelso of Mexico, Mo.; Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Spaulding and daughter Jean, of Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. Lawson G. Lowrey and sons Lawson and Ernest of Iowa City; Mrs. Anna Davies, of Mount Vernon; Miss Ruth Flowerree, of Center, Mo.; Mrs. Dave Dudley of Troy; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brown of Jefferson City, Mo.; Donald S. Libby of Centralia, and Miss Sally Love Banks, and Miss Margaret Banks of Memphis, Tenn.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ANTICIPATE VACATION LIKE SCHOOL CHILDREN

The joyful anticipation which fills the thoughts of the youngsters at the approach of the close of school is nearly equalled by a larger number of the "oldsters" in the University this summer. At least, the numerous references made to next Wednesday, which may be heard almost anywhere now, indicate that plans other than studying are coming in for their share of discussion.

"By Wednesday morning my trunk will be packed and at the depot," said a happy miss to a table companion in the University Cafeteria yesterday. "And I'll be right there with it about an hour after my 11:00 o'clock class, too."

The other girl smiled. "That's all right, I'll get home before you do, anyhow," she answered.

A rather important event seemed to be the topic of a conversation overheard at a rooming house: "I'd like to be there to see you get tied up, old man, but a fishing trip has been planned for my special benefit the day after school is out and I sure cannot miss that."

The rains this week caused the pessimistic traits of a few to show up: "What do you know about this weather?" said a disgruntled student. "My folks were coming for me Wednesday in the car, and now I'll have to waste a whole day on the train."

"Oh, cheer up," rejoined his roommate, "you talk like it was tomorrow you were going instead of nearly a week from now; you had better get busy on that psychology lesson."

School Grounds Not Graded

This is the west and front view of the Douglas School, which is considered one of the best architecturally in the United States for colored people. In the recent recommendations made by the board of education, attention was called to the need of improvements in the grounds of the Douglas School. It was recommended that the property be graded, that the open sewer under the board bridge in the foreground be eliminated and that the south, east and north sides of the property be fenced in heavy wire with metal posts.

GIRLS AT READ HALL EXPERIENCE THRILL OF THE "CHOW LINE"

As Milton puts it, "They also serve who only stand and wait." A long, irregular line of thirty girls, chatting noisily, with plates and spoons in hand, filed out into the kitchen, where lay a tempting cake cut proportionately; then the line went directly to the back porch. There exclamations of joy and surprise soon revealed that a real home made brand of peach ice cream was the treat of Mrs. Margaret Chamberlain, the matron, to the Read Hall girls, a reward to the uncomplaining and aiding girls, who have suffered fresh paint and a torn up house while Read Hall is being made ready for its fall occupants.
